

Visualizing Brings a Book to Life

When the author said _____ it helped me picture _____.

Visualizing is when readers picture what they are reading in their mind. This is often referred to as “making a movie in your mind” as you read. When a reader visualizes the words, it makes comprehension possible and engages the reader. Readers visualize when they read fiction or nonfiction to help bring the book to life.

Visualize with All Five Senses

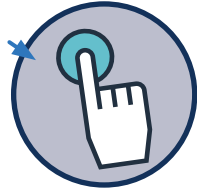

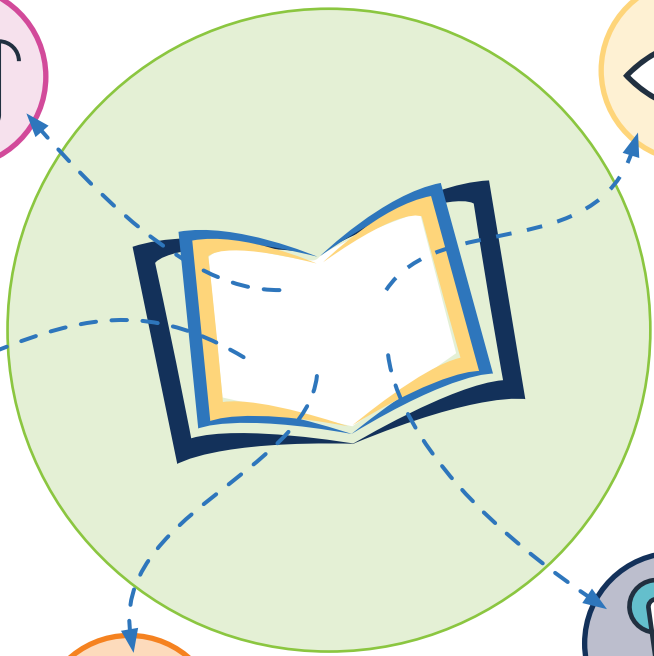

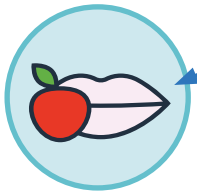

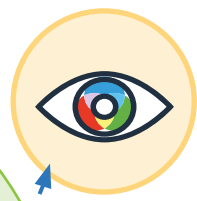

What do you hear?

What do you see?

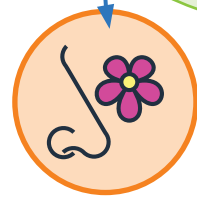

I'm picturing...

The movie in my head shows...

I can imagine...

What do you taste?

What do you feel?

What do you smell?
